Carter Summitry Seen Possibility During This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western diplomats are talking about the possibility of President Carter visiting some key European capitals if two springtime summit meetings in London can be arranged.

U.S. officials reported the idea is now in the talking — not the planning — stage with nothing definite for either of the conferences.

Nonetheless, the officials said this much is certain:

—There is to be a summit-level meeting of major industrialized nations, including Japan, in London on a date yet to be agreed. Current thinking suggests a two-or three-day session on economic and probably political affairs may be held during the first week of May. Carter already has signaled his willingness to attend those important talks, sources said.

—Then on May 10 and 11 in London there is to be a meeting of the North Atlantic Council to be attended by NATO foreign ministers and possibly also by heads of those member-governments willing to come.

A presidential decision to participate almost certainly, officials suggested, would attract most of Carter's fellow-

Ohio School Districts Fight Gas Shortage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One school district has been notified that its gas will be shut off completely for the rest of the winter while others are doing the best they can on limited supplies. State education officials say the overall picture is bleak.

Columbia Gas of Ohio Friday gave Mansfield City Schools a five-day warning that gas would be shut off Feb. 25 until the end of the winter heating season because the system has exceeded its allocation.

The system was closed a total of 20 days this year for energy-related reasons, but had opened Tuesday despite restrictions from the gas company.

Conversion of five of the 25 buildings to alternative fuel is under way. Officials say all students may use the converted buildings through split sessions.

Conversely, five of the 25 buildings to alternative fuel is under way. Officials say all students may use the converted buildings through split sessions.

Friday was the final day for nominations.

"We set the date rather arbitrarily so we would know how many persons we'll have to choose from," Williams said. "We're seeking nominations from almost anyone. We're very determined to make this an open process."

"We've received about 100 letters," he said.

State School Supt. Martin W. Essex, who has held the position 10 years, announced he will retire March 15.

"The board feels that selection of a new superintendent is one of the most important things it does," Williams said. "It is quite possible that will not be able to make a determination within the time frame and it may be necessary to appoint an acting superintendent."

"The selection committee probably will be meeting within 10 days to discuss the nominations and set up interviews," Williams said.

CIA Payments Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has begun a sweeping review of U.S. intelligence operations amid reports that more than half a dozen past and present foreign leaders received secret payments from the CIA.

King Hussein of Jordan, Willy Brandt of West Germany, Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, Joseph Mobutu of Zaire and Forbes Burnham of Guyana are identified in a still-secret manuscript as recipients of CIA funds, according to sources who have seen the manuscript.

Cypriot Archbishop Makarios and the Tibetan Dalai Lama also have received secret payments, according to the Washington Post.

The CIA several years ago went to court to block former intelligence officials Victor Marchetti and John D. Marks from revealing the names of foreign leaders who have received secret payments in their 1974 book "The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence."

Agency lawyers claimed that publication of the names would "result in grave and irreparable injury to the interests of the United States."

The White House and State Department declined to comment Friday on a report that the CIA secretly paid millions of dollars to Hussein over a two-year period. Instead, Press Secretary Jody Powell announced that the administration has begun an "intensive and comprehensive review" of all foreign intelligence operations.

Carter reportedly ordered the secret payments to Hussein stopped when he learned of them.

One former intelligence official defended the payments as essential to preserving Hussein as a stabilizing influence in the Middle East.

Marchetti, former executive assistant to the deputy director of the CIA, and Marks, former assistant to the State Department's director of intelligence, are still prohibited by a court order from discussing the contents of the deleted portions of their book.

However, Marchetti said he had previously identified Kenyatta and Brandt as recipients of CIA funds.

The payments to the former West German chancellor were used to strengthen the Social Democratic party, Marchetti said. Brandt, a Nobel Peace Prize winner, is still the party's leader.

But Kenyatta, still president of Kenya, diverted much of the money to his personal use, Marchetti said. "We had to double Kenyatta's stipend because he was using it all up himself," he said.

Sources who have seen the deleted portions of Marchetti's book said Brandt, Kenyatta and Hussein were cited along with Thieu, Mobutu and Burnham as examples of "cases in which the CIA's relationship with the local head of state was so special that the American ambassador was not informed of any of the details."

Mobutu is still president of Zaire and Burnham is still prime minister in the South American nation of Guyana. Thieu was president of South Vietnam until it was overrun by the North Vietnamese in 1975.

New Nuclear Sub Named Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The city of Cincinnati once again has a namesake on the high seas after brief ceremonies at Newport News, Va., to christen a new attack submarine.

The Cincinnati is one of 39 boats scheduled to be built as part of the Navy's efforts to convert its attack submarines to an all-nuclear force.

It will be the fourth boat to bear the name, dating back to the 1860s when the first Cincinnati was the lead ship in an operation aimed at splitting the Confederacy. It was sunk during that operation, but later raised and returned to service where it joined in the attack on Vicksburg.

The second Cincinnati was launched in 1892 and continued its service until it was decommissioned at New Orleans in 1919.

Finally, there was the cruiser Cincinnati commissioned in 1924, which was based at Pearl Harbor from April 1940 until March 1941 when it was returned to the Atlantic Ocean where it patrolled and provided convoy escort after the outbreak of the war.

The current Cincinnati is nuclear propelled, 360 feet long and weighs 6,900 tons. It is designed specifically to "provide the speed necessary to counter the new classes of Soviet high speed submarines," according to a Navy spokesman.

The attack submarines, called the Los Angeles class, are "the only weapons system capable of operating long periods of time in waters under enemy air and surface control," the Navy said.

The submarine was christened by Nancy Keating, wife of the President of The Cincinnati Enquirer William J. Keating.

Utility Data Shows No Big Profits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although some figures were based on projections, Ohio's four largest natural gas companies have reported to the Public Utilities Commission that they are not making profits greater than those allowed by law.

The reports Friday were inconclusive—based on projections for February and March, the last two of the five-month heating season which began last Nov. 1.

They also failed to take into consideration additional volumes of natural gas that may become available in the closing weeks of the severe winter period.

Generally, the companies reported big increases in receipts during the first three heating months—November, December, and January—but said those gains will be wiped out by lower February and March consumption resulting from curtailed supplies.

PUCO Chairman C. Luther Heckman requested Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., East Ohio Gas Co., Dayton Power & Light Co., and Cincinnati Gas &

Electric Co., to determine if the unprecedented demand for natural gas was resulting in profits greater than those allowed by law.

The three-member commission approves rate structures of the utilities, designed to guarantee them a "fair and reasonable" return on their investments. However, the agency has trouble monitoring "on going" situations such as the current one, a member pointed out.

Commissioner David C. Sweet noted, for instance, that the present investigation is limited to actual figures only for the months of November through January, while the commission must rely on projections for February and March.

The companies' actual rate performance for the latter two months will not be available until around the middle of April, after they complete audits for the first quarter of calendar 1977.

"It appears that no excess is there," said Heckman, after receiving the figures in a commission staff report. However, he said the commission will continue to monitor the profits situation.

For the first three months of the season, Columbia showed profits $31.8 million greater than it had projected in its budget. However, it estimated a decrease from budget projections for February and March totaling $32.8 million.

Figures from East Ohio showed a profit increase for the entire five-month period, based partly on projections, of $11 million. However, the hike was due in part to a rate increase, and it was estimated East Ohio's net income will fall by $6.4 million in the remainder of 1977.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric's showed greater than anticipated income for the first three months of $15.9 million, but it was estimated that during February and March, there will be a decline of $15.4 million.

Dayton Power & Light's report, partly projected over five months, showed expected net income had been $87.8 million, while it listed a figure for the end of March of $88 million.

Toxic Chemical Threatens Cities

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 75-mile-long spill of a toxic chemical, believed discharged in West Virginia, is flowing down the Ohio River and threatening water supplies as far south as Louisville, Ky.

Public officials urged people to boil all drinking water.

Joseph Harrison, chief of water supply at Chicago's Environmental Protection Agency branch, said the chemical — carbon tetrachloride — can damage the liver and has caused cancer in laboratory animals.

"If you drink it, you probably won't be acutely affected right away. There is a risk, it could cause cancer eventually. It's a high risk," Harrison said.

"We have a good idea at this point what company is the source," said James Manwaring, EPA director in Philadelphia, but he declined to identify the firm.

He said that carbon tetrachloride was found in three discharge pipes of the FMC Corp. plant in South Charleston, W.Va., one of four producers of the chemical in that area.

FMC was the only one of the four plants that refused to allow EPA inspectors to make tests Feb. 8. FMC did agree to testing Friday during a federal district court hearing at Parkersburg, W.Va., Manwaring said.

The other three plants — Diamond Shamrock, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Allied Chemical Co. — all agreed to discharge tests after the chemical began showing up downstream in drinking water at Huntington, W.Va., Manwaring said. He said tests at the three plants showed no discharge of the toxic chemical.

FMC spokesman Bill Currey said: "Reports linking FMC's South Charleston operation to carbon tetrachloride problems in the Ohio River have not been confirmed by FMC plant officials in South Charleston. No major spill of carbon tetrachloride has been recorded at the plant."

Manwaring said tests on the Kanawa River a tributary of the Ohio, upstream from the four plants showed no trace of the chemical.

"However, downstream we found 150 parts per billion last Friday, Feb. 11. That is up from 10 parts per billion from two days before," he said.

"We have not confronted any firm with the evidence because the testing is not complete," Manwaring said. "We thought it was more important right now to warn the communities downstream."

The 70-ton spill is traveling 12 miles a day. EPA officials estimated Friday it might take four days to reach Cincinnati, the next major city in the path of the chemical.

Kentucky ordered riverside residents to boil or store drinking water. John Nichols, Gov. Julian Carroll's press secretary, said that because carbon tetrachloride is particularly toxic when combined with certain drugs, the order applied "especially to persons with liver or kidney ailments and to persons using alcohol or barbiturates."

At Portsmouth and Ironton, in Ohio, officials telephoned warnings to places where people congregated, such as restaurants, hotels and basketball games.

"We have to take precautions," said James Tipton, a Portsmouth public utilities spokesman. "We've got no time to make tests. We have to alarm people, but we're going to have to do just that for their own safety."

Funding For Cities To Be Rechanneled

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major program of aid to the cities is being expanded and revamped by the Carter administration to channel more money to the poorest and neediest communities.

Officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development disclosed Friday that the administration proposes to expand the program by spending $4 billion in the fiscal year beginning next October, compared to $3.2 billion in the current fiscal year. Former President Gerald R. Ford had proposed spending $3.5 billion in the next fiscal year.

One source familiar with Carter's urban proposal said the additional funds, coupled with new features to benefit the needy, should be received warmly in the big cities, particularly those in financial distress. He added that some smaller towns probably will be a little less enthusiastic and counties may be the coolest toward the changes.

Known as the Community Development Program, it provides money to more than 2,500 cities, suburbs and rural towns and about 100 counties. The program is the principal funding mechanism in HUD for urban development, merging such former programs as Model Cities and urban renewal used by previous administrations.

HUD officials said the administration also favors extending the program, which began in 1974, for three more years. Funding would be $4.2 billion for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1, 1978, and $4.5 billion for the following year.

These proposals are expected to be made public next week when Carter announces his amendments to Ford's requested budget, and HUD Secretary Patricia Harris is scheduled to testify on the program before a House subcommittee on Tuesday.

The proposals were partially disclosed at a meeting between HUD officials and city officials who belong to the National League of Cities.

Carl Riedy, one of Mrs. Harris' deputies, said the administration wants to make sure communities help poor people with the money they receive under the act.

British Leader Anthony Crosland Dies

LONDON (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland, an articulate and sometimes unconventional socialist who was hard at work trying to solve the Rhodesia crisis when he collapsed with a stroke last Sunday, died early today at the age of 58.

The Foreign Office announced that Crosland, who had been in a coma since Monday, "died peacefully" at Oxford Roadcliffe Infirmary.

"Mrs. Crosland was with him at the bedside when he died," the announcement said. "Her family is with her."

Crosland, who became foreign secretary last April, had been engaged in the most vital work of his political career just before his stroke.

He was coordinating efforts to obtain black majority rule in the rebel British colony of Rhodesia, he was negotiating the fishing limits of Europe's offshore waters, and he was chairing Common Market ministers' meetings in Brussels.

Crosland had gone out for a walk last Sunday before returning to his Oxford country home to settle down to work on papers on Rhodesia.

"Susan, something has happened," he told his wife.

He was rushed to the hospital where his condition rapidly worsened in what doctors called a "progressive stroke." He had been listed as dangerously ill since Monday.

Family sources said he suffered "massive brain damage" and government officials said his condition ruled out brain surgery.

Weather

A cold front moving through the state will bring colder temperatures and a chance of rain or snow this weekend. The weather will be cloudy with a chance of snow flurries today and a high near 36, and colder with chances of snow tonight and Sunday. The low tonight will be in the middle teens, while the high Sunday may reach 30. Chances of snow are 30 per cent. The cooler temperatures should continue until Wednesday. The high Friday was 35, while the low was 27.

Ohio 'Right To Die' Measure Renewed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two northern Ohio legislators have renewed their fight to give Ohio a "right to die" statute, citing "a need for more clarification in this highly sensitive area."

Reps. Robert A. Nader, D-55

Warren, and Scriber L. Fauver, R-54 Elyria, filed their bill Friday in the House clerk's office. It will be formally introduced Tuesday when lawmakers return from their long President's Day holiday weekend.

Their bill will be making its second appearance in the House, having been scrapped there last session amidst the emotionalism that accompanied the highly publicized Karen Quinlan case in New Jersey, among others.

Under the legislation, a physician could certify death if a person has experienced an irreversible cessation of spontaneous respiratory and circulatory functions.

If life support systems were being used to maintain breathing and heartbeat, the physician would certify death only if the patient experienced irreversible cessation of brain functions.

The Nader-Fauver bill would give Ohio for the first time a legal definition of death, replacing present statutes which require decisions be made on a "case by case" basis.

In effect, it would determine when the state would step aside to permit disconnection of life support systems. The two lawmakers stressed that their legislation would not allow euthanasia, or mercy killing.

Nader and Fauver introduced their last measure following publicity of the Quinlan girl, who remained alive after a court finally allowed disconnection of life support systems. There also had been a similar problem in Elyria where a boy was sustained several days before death was declared legally.

Fauver noted that the Elyria youngster was kept on the systems after a physician reported he had suffered complete loss of brain functions and stood no chance of recovery. "In the meantime, the family and community went through total agony," he said.

Nader and Fauver noted that after national attention focused on the Quinlan case in 1975, California enacted a "right to die" statute, and that 16 other states have started to consider such legislation.

"This is a highly complex and delicate matter, but not one that we should avoid indefinitely," Fauver said.

Space Shuttle Takes Piggyback Flight

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A test flight has proved that a 747 jumbo jet launch plane with the space shuttle Enterprise riding piggyback can fly and navigate safely.

Friday's flight, reaching an altitude of 16,000 feet and a maximum speed of 287 miles per hour, "went almost exactly as planned," said a NASA test pilot. "For most of the flight we probably couldn't even tell the shuttle was there."

In July — after a series of 10 similar piggyback flights, five with astronauts aboard the shuttle — the $500 million reusable, delta-winged craft will be set free from the Boeing 747. The astronauts aboard will verify its ability to glide without power to an airplane-style landing on a runway.

Even with the 122-foot, 144,000-pound shuttle on its back, the carrier ship took off smoothly from a long desert airstrip and maneuvered through two hours of tests of stability and handling characteristics.

"We had a little bit of buffet," said pilot Fitzhugh Fulton Jr., referring to a shaking effect caused by the bulky shuttle's disturbance of air flow around the 747's tail. Two vertical stabilizers had been added to the tail to improve control of the jumbo.

But he emphasized that the shaking was not serious and caused no more vibration than usual when wing flaps are lowered for landing.

As the 747 climbed, turned, banked and flew at various power settings, instruments carried in the modified airliner's cabin sent data to the control center on how both planes were responding.

The shuttle, scheduled for use in 1979, is named after the spaceship in the Star Trek television series and is designed for rocket launches into earth orbit and a saving of millions of dollars over previous oneshot space vehicles.

Although the piggyback combination had previously been tested only in taxi tests which did not involve actual flight, Fulton said he felt no apprehension when the flight began at precisely 8.30 a.m. Friday.

Vance Makes 5th Stop

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance today flew to Saudi Arabia, the fifth stop on his Middle East factfinding tour, after a daylong visit in Jordan with King Hussein.

Meanwhile, Beirut newspapers reported today that the United States has pledged to prevent Israel from invading or annexing any part of south Lebanon.

Vance breakfasted with Hussein today and then left for Saudi Arabia, where he will confer with Crown Prince Fahd, Foreign Minister Saud al-Faisal and other officials on Middle East peace and oil.

A traditional friend of the United States, the oil rich Saudi kingdom has resisted a twostage, 15 per cent hike in oil prices decreed by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

The Saudis, who have held their price hike to 5 per cent, have warned that they might reconsider their price policy if Washington fails to pressure Israel into reaching an accord with the Arabs.

Open Primary Vote Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton lawmaker will introduce legislation next week calling for a continuation of separate primary elections for governor and lieutenant governor, although the two offices will be paired in general elections.

Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, was a prime mover behind the constitutional amendment setting up a tandem election of governor and lieutenant governor, similar to the way the president and vice president are elected.

The amendment, however, left it up to the legislature to determine how the 1978 primary should be run.

Grand Jury Returns 9 True Bills

Nine true bills and 12 secret indictments were returned yesterday by the January part of the 1976 Grand Jury.

True bills were returned against Darnell Harris, robbery; James Speakman, robbery; Richard Ray Stiltner, robbery; Keith A. Harter, forgery, receiving stolen property; Wallace Dean Hatfield, grand theft; Clifton Andrew Croxton, grand theft; Calvin L. Fyffe, receiving stolen property; and Dwight E. Stockwell, attempted felonious assault.

A no bill was returned against Chuck Davis for grand theft.

There were 14 witnesses called to testify.

The jury noted that the Pickaway County Jail was operated in accordance with the rules of the court, and commended Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and his staff for excellent operation of the department.

The Grand Jury recommended that kitchen facilities of the jail be improved by the installation of a new office.

Members of the Grand Jury are: Jesse J. Francis, Fostella M. Gilliam, William L. Archer, Shirley J. Price, John H. O'Hara, Faye A. Baylous, and Judith A. Davie. Nelson Embrey is the foreman and Paul E. Bowman serves as deputy foreman.

School Bus Drives Over Girl's Foot

A 10-year-old Orient girl who fell under the wheels of the school bus was injured Friday afternoon when the vehicle drove over her foot.

Jennifer S. Martin of 12330 Clark Drive, Orient, was treated by the Jackson Township Emergency Squad before being taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

She was treated for severe contusions to the muscle of her left foot, and a small chip of the foot bone.

According to the report of Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Dan Dewey, the youngster apparently reached under the school bus to retrieve a tennis shoe which had been dropped by a friend when she fell under the right rear tire.

Driver of the bus, Maxwell Graham, 65, 9788 Route 62, Orient, apparently did not see the accident and continued on his route of discharging Westfall School District students.

The youngsters and several of her friends had been discharged from the bus at the intersection of Clark Drive and Valley Drive.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colder, unsettled weather is in store for Ohio the rest of the weekend as cold, moist air moves south and east across the state from a storm north of Lake Huron.

The cold air mass will mean snow flurries throughout the state over the weekend and temperatures in the teens tonight, rising only into the 20s Sunday.

Ahead of the front—through eastern and southern Ohio—skies were cloudy this morning and the temperatures remained in the 30s overnight. Behind the front—in northwestern sections—skies cleared and temperatures fell into the low and mid 20s. Some light rain moved into the Cincinnati area from Indiana during the early morning hours.

Scholarship Aids Student In Overseas Traveling

Aided by a scholarship award, this year, Traci Ward will enjoy the opportunity of a lifetime by living and learning with a family in France.

Miss Ward, of Circleville, has been awarded a scholarship by Youth For Understanding student exchange program, and is eagerly looking forward to the adventure of overseas living. Over 6,000 students a year enjoy the excitement and personal fulfillment of living, learning, and maturing in another country through Youth For Understanding.

Additional scholarship monies and other financial aid are still available to qualified students who wish to live and study abroad, according to Youth For Understanding. Full and partial scholarships will be awarded to students with suitable personal and academic qualifications. Low-interest loan funds are also available through the organization.

Youth For Understanding is a non-profit international student exchange organization which has exchanged more than 55,000 students worldwide. Students aged 14 through 18 can participate in the program and live with a local family in one of 23 countries in Europe, Latin America, the Far East, or Africa for a summer or year.

The experience comes at the unique time of life when students have the curiosity, flexibility, and openness of mind to gain maturity and perspective on another country and their own by participating personally in another culture.

Youth For Understanding students become regular family members in their overseas country, participating in all facets of local life as no tourist can. Typically, students gain an interest which lasts a lifetime, and provides an investment in their future which is unparalleled.

Students for their parents who wish information on the Youth For Understanding overseas living adventure should contact Mrs. Frank R. Lands, Sr., 474-2586 (home), 22316 Ringgold Southern Rd., Stoutsville, for

Prison Bond Issue Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A liberal Democrat and conservative Republican plan to introduce as cosponsors next week a $275 million bond issue for construction and renovation of Ohio's crowded prison facilities.

The bonds would be backed by a one cent increase in the cigarette tax and an increase in the alcoholic beverage tax of approximately 80 cents a gallon.

Reps. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Cleveland, and Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, proposed a similar resolution last year, but it died in committee. This year they have 20 cosponsors.

Lehman, the House Judiciary chairman, said Friday the prison population has soared by 5,745 inmates in the last three years to the point where six of the state's eight correctional institutions are overcrowded.

"I have received numerous communications from judges, prosecutors and members of the public on this issue, and everyone is asking where are we going to place people if our state and local facilities run out of space," the Cuyahoga County attorney said.

Motorist Cited After Crash

The Circleville Police Department investigated a two car accident at 12:09 a.m. this morning on N. Western Ave., approximately 120 feet north of W. Main St.

According to the report, Ned R. Wells, 46, of Rt. 3, was southbound on Western Ave. when he struck a car belonging to Carl A. Dummitt, Rt. 2, Circleville. Dummitt's vehicle was parked at the curb.

After impact, the report states that Wells' auto traveled 120 feet before coming to a stop.

There were no injuries reported. Ptl. Ken Henn cited Wells for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence.

A Page Of Opinion

Competence Is The Key

Filling the top policy jobs in his administration naturally is one of the top priorities of a new president. With hundreds of such jobs at his disposal, President Carter has progressed little beyond the cabinet and sub-cabinet levels. Many of the latter appointments, although presumably made, have not been announced because of delays in background investigations.

Beyond the upper echelons of the executive departments, many of the appointments still to come will be watched closely to see what factors are considered in making the selections. That is particularly true of the diplomatic corps and regulatory agencies, fields of public service in which criteria other than competence too often have been used in the past.

A meaningful reorganization of the federal government — one of the Carter administration's priorities — will take the special requirements of these jobs into account. It will not do to link ambassadorships with campaign support alone, or membership on regulatory bodies with pressure from special interest groups.

A fresh beginning is a time for new ways. Placing competence and fairness above all other considerations would be a good beginning.

Nose Beauty Has Changed

By PHYLLIS BATTELE

NEW YORK — Plastic surgeons are reporting an upsurge of patients seeking the cosmetic restructuring of their noses — an operation known medically as rhinoplasty. A new attitude toward plastic surgery, combined with its safety and relatively reasonable cost, are responsible.

But it is ironic that such surgery should be gaining in popularity now, during an era when the American standard of nose beauty has changed. No longer are the button-nose, one-time symbol of cutie-pieness, or the patrician nose, long the symbol of facial aristocracy, the noses to emulate.

With liberation, we have entered the age of the substantial proboscis — the nose that strongly leads, rather than the nose that casts a small, graceful shadow on the upper lip.

Said a spokesman for the cosmetic house, "We are now trying to accentuate uniqueness in the face which give it character. The standardized 'pretty' face is out. Black is beautiful. White is beautiful. Yellow is beautiful. Strength and character are beautiful. Walter Matthau and Barbra Streisand noses have replaced June Allyson noses. Ringo Starr is pretty. Everyone's asset is the most prominent feature on the face."

A talented writer-director named James Eiler agreed.

Eiler studied noses throughout history, in preparation for authoring a musical version of "Pinocchio" a few years ago, and was fascinated that American culture had finally come to accept what other civilizations long have considered vital.

"Did you know, for example, that noses actually shaped history?" he asked. "Ancient records show that the Hittites became great warriors after centuries of being teased by neighboring tribes about their long, crooked noses. They liked their noses, of course, and were infuriated by the taunts of their pug-nosed neighbors. Gradually, they turned from being docile peoples into being a feared and respected branch of civilization. All in defense of their noses."

And, of course, Cleopatra had a protruding nose that apparently was sufficiently substantial to mold her aggressive personality. A scholar named Pascal wrote, "Had Cleopatra's nose been but a trifle smaller, many men might have lived and the whole aspect of the world would have been altered."

According to Eiler, Napoleon was another nosy human being. "Napoleon believed, rightly or wrongly, that the size and shape of a man's nose was a reliable guide to his character, and he chose his highest officers largely on that basis."

In some parts of medieval Europe, research shows, a large nose was regarded as a sign of enormous passion.

One French king ordered his portrait retouched, with a longer nose inserted into it, so that the ladies at court would recognize and appreciate his romantic nature.

"This also helps to explain the Borgias' unique punishment for adultery," said Eiler. "Convicted adulterers — unless they were Borgias — had a bit of their noses cut off."

"The passion concept persists also in 'Cyrano de Bergerac,' of course. That great play revolves around the largest and most misshapen nose in literature. But remember that Cyrano had the soul of a great lover, even though in face-to-face encounters with women, the nose kept getting in his way."

In more modern times, physiognomists agree with Napoleon and Rostand (who wrote "Cyrano") that a person's nose is a clue to his personality. Or so Eiler maintained.

"A long and prominent nose is believed to indicate firmness and trustworthiness. A flatter, more receding nose is said to be a symbol of obstinacy. A pointed nose is said to denote a jealous disposition, and an upturned nose shows a zest for living."

Are these personality assumptions the result of scientific studies? I asked Eiler.

His nose seemed to flatten and recede as he replied, "Absolutely not!"

Eiler agreed that the trend today is back toward the past. We have abolished the old Hollywood standards, which called for insignificance in mid-face, and Americans are finally getting it through their thick skulls (another unique feature) that beauty is not only skin deep and in the eyes of the beholder — it is also unclassifiable.

The forthright nose that once raised eyebrows now raises respect.

So think twice before calling a surgeon and having your nose curtailed.

A large nose is a sign of character. Unless you really must — don't blow it.

David Kennedy Pays Fines

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — David Kennedy, 21-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, has been fined $20 after pleading guilty to two motor vehicle violations.

Kennedy was charged by Arlington, Mass., police with failing to stop at a stop sign, operating a motor vehicle without a license in his possession and operating an unregistered and uninsured motor vehicle.

He was found innocent of two other motor vehicle charges Thursday by Judge Lawrence Felony in Cambridge District Court.

The Harvard University student was charged after allegedly failing to stop at an intersection shortly after 1 a.m. on Jan. 25.

He pleaded guilty to the first two charges and was fined $10 on each.

The U.S. equivalent of one meter is 39.37 inches.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

Is glaucoma related to cataracts of the eye? Can they both happen at the same time?

Mr. T.O., N.Y.

Dear Mr. O.:

They are two totally different and unrelated conditions. A cataract is a cloudiness of the lens of the eye. When this cloudiness progresses to the point of "maturity," light does not penetrate through the lens and interferes with vision.

Glaucoma is an increase in the amount of fluid within the eyeball itself. This increased pressure within the eye, when undetected and untreated, can be responsible for blindness.

There are many excellent techniques by which the early signs of cataract are detected. Once it has been established that a cataract is forming, the patient is kept under constant supervision until the ideal time for surgery is determined.

Few fields in medicine and surgery have made as many remarkable advances as those made in operations on the eyes. Surgery for cataract is becoming safer, with greater and greater assurance of maintaining good vision.

No examination of the eye is ever considered to be complete without testing the tension within the eyeball for the earliest detection of glaucoma. This, simply performed by a tonometer, has saved the vision of thousands of people who might otherwise not have known of the existence of glaucoma.

Glaucoma can be treated medically or surgically, depending on the kind of glaucoma and its severity.

Is cirrhosis of the liver always caused by alcohol? I am a mild drinker. Whenever I mention that I have cirrhosis I seem to get a raised eyebrow, intimating that I'm a boozier.

Mr. B.E., Calif.

Dear Mr. E.:

Cirrhosis of the liver is often mistakenly identified as the exclusive disease of the alcoholic. Certainly, alcohol plays a dominant role in its production. Yet obstruction of the bile ducts, the aftermath of viral hepatitis, severe malnutrition, long-standing heart disease, or drug intoxication may also cause cirrhosis of the liver.

Cirrhosis is a chronic disease that changes the architecture of the liver and interferes with its proper function. Many new and exacting tests can now pinpoint the cause of cirrhosis. When these causes are determined and eliminated, the progress of the condition can be curtailed.

It is my feeling that illness is a private possession. I see no reason why you need to publicize your illness, especially since it creates these problems for you.

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank the people of Scioto Township for the patience shown and the help given during the recent severe weather. While many were snowbound on impassable roads, many others helped the township and its residents as equipment operators, truck drivers, fuel haulers, by donating food, and in numerous other ways helped everyone to dig out and resume a more normal existence.

Heavy equipment needed to open the roads came from William L. Green, John O. Nutter, George J. Igel and the Corps of Engineers. This equipment and the willingness of many people to help the trustees made it possible for Scioto Township to return to a fine place to live.

Thanks to all who helped!

Dear Editor:

As Heart Month continues, I wish to speak about a matter concerning all of us in Pickaway County, the coronary care intensive care unit planned to open at Berger Hospital in April. We are fortunate in Circleville that the immediate care for the person suffering a heart attack is given by well trained, active volunteers in our Emergency Medical Team who provide on the spot emergency care.

The heart attack victim is then taken to Berger Hospital Emergency Room where very competent professional resuscitation is given by the ER personnel guided by either the on duty ER physician or the patient's family physician.

The next step is where the problem arises. Currently, we are forced to transport coronary patients and other patients requiring intensive care by ambulance to Columbus or other facilities. The statistics show that in 1975, 344 persons died in Pickaway County, 198 or 57.6 per cent were secondary to cardiovascular disease. I wonder how many more victims of heart attack could be saved by avoiding this transport at such a critical time in the treatment process.

The only obstacle to opening the coronary unit is the lack of registered nurses willing to work there. The wages paid will be equal to or better than the other community hospitals in the area except for the federally funded VA facility. The administration at Berger Hospital is actively working to re-open the unit. They have demonstrated this in many ways but especially by their willingness to fund a coronary care training course for registered nurses jointly with the Pickaway County Branch of the American Heart Assn.

They have planned an excellent unit into the new addition of our hospital. We are still short of RNs for the training course which starts Feb. 21. Enough nurses taking this course and then agreeing to work in the unit will insure its opening in April. The alternative is to continue to risk the lives of the people in this county in transport to other facilities.

Sincerely,
MICHAEL E. GERON, MD

Price-Fixing Sentences Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Fourteen executives of paper box manufacturing companies who pleaded no contest to federal price fixing charges have had their jail sentences reduced by a U.S. District Court judge.

Five of them were ordered Thursday by Judge James B. Parsons to participate in a work-release program to help find jobs for parolees and persons on probation.

Parsons denied motions to reduce the sentences of three other executives. Motions to reduce the sentences of 30 other executives are pending.

The judge said he considered each case individually and gave no reason for the reductions in sentences.

He said any of those executives sentenced to serve five days or longer could continue their business during the day, spending only the night in Chicago's federal correctional center.

Parsons said the executives must report to the center to begin serving their sentences before Feb. 28.

The government indicted 50 executives of cardboard box and paper box companies a year ago on charges of fixing prices from 1960 to 1964. Of those, 48 pleaded no contest and two pleaded not guilty and were acquitted.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second time in two years and the 11th since 1959, Ma Bell has nourished her brood, now numbering nearly three million shareholders, with a dividend increase.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which operates the system, announced Wednesday that the new quarterly dividend would be $1.05 a share, or $4.20 a year, a return of nearly 6.5 per cent a year.

At that rate — and don't forget, many people bought in at much lower prices and so have higher effective returns — the loyalty of shareholders in the nation's largest corporate concern has been rewarded and preserved.

A high return is considered wise these days by managers of blue chip corporations, because they must protect themselves against the competition of high interest rates in banks and bonds.

John D. deButts, chairman, made it perfectly clear he understood his shareholders' yearning not just for security and long-term growth, but for something right now, for immediate income.

AT&T strives to keep the family happy. "It is upon our ability to maintain continuing investor interest in our business that our long-term service capability ultimately depends," said deButts.

A happy brood, that is, means a happy hen. About a fifth of AT&T's shareholders participate in a dividend reinvestment plan that funnels the dividends right back into more shares to finance growth.

Ma Bell's happy family is also influential. When the dividend increase was announced at double what many analysts had expected it prompted a lot of institutions and individuals to call their brokers. Prices rose generally.

In fact, AT&T's dividends appear to have more influence on the market than AT&T's extraordinary earnings, which totaled $3.83 billion last year, a 22 per cent increase over the $3.15 billion earned in 1975.

But there are problems with such numbers: They are so large as to almost lose meaning. What do you compare them to?

The company has close to a million employees, more than 120 million telephones installed and, based on a 1975 average, probably will be handling close to 500 million messages a day this year.

It is only by breaking down AT&T's numbers that we can appreciate the significance — the $4.20 a share in dividends, the more than $6 a share in earnings, the $65 price for each of 607.5 million shares outstanding.

Not everyone, however, is happy about AT&T's numbers. A good many customers this week are irritated that telephone rates should rise while the company reports such healthy earnings and dividends.

You can be certain AT&T doesn't see it that way at all. It feels its rates are reasonable; it feels its dividends are justified.

The reasoning goes like this: We live in a capitalist system. We can enlarge and improve our companies only by the infusion of capital. Capital infusions come from people with extra money who want to invest to make more.

Therefore, you must keep your shareholders happy if you are to maintain efficiency and innovation.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Be Thankful Teen Takes The Pill

DEAR ABBY: I don't know who to turn to. I just found out that my 18-year-old daughter is on the Pill. I am nearly crazy with heartbreak, disappointment and shame. She has a steady boyfriend I thought was nice. I never dreamed this was going on.

Should I confront her and tell her I know? I'm so upset I can hardly sleep or eat. My daughter works steady and lives at home, and she's always been a clean and decent girl. Please help me.

NEARLY CRAZY IN PENNA. DEAR NEARLY: What are your alternatives? Confront her and demand that she stop having sex? It won't work. Once a girl becomes sexually active, she's not likely to abstain from sex because her mother asks her to. Besides, she's of age. You could kick her out of your house, but what would that accomplish?

As long as she has chosen to be sexually active, isn't it better that she is taking precautions to prevent pregnancy that could lead to a premature marriage, and abortion or an unwanted child?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to Paul for only six months, but one of his habits is really driving me out of my mind.

When he sits down to eat (whether we are at home, dining out or are guests in someone's home), the first thing he does is to salt everything that requires seasoning and I mean he salts it up but good! Abby, he doesn't even TRY it first; he just pours the salt on.

People look at him in disbelief. At the home of friends, I'm sure they think there's something wrong with their food. Shouldn't he take a little taste first? And then if he likes things saltier, he could add a bit more salt instead of doing it in these great broad gestures.

Or am I wrong to criticize him?

PAUL'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: If your husband likes salt, he should be a little more subtle in applying it, especially when he's a dinner guest. And he should take a token taste first, even though he knows he's going to add more salt.

Paul's craving for salt may be embarrassing for you, but it could have more serious implications. Tell him to mention this to his physician.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a man to be in love with two women at the same time?

I'm a divorcee, and this man I'm dating has never been married. When we met, he told me quite honestly that he had been seeing another woman, but that he wanted to date me anyway.

I agreed, thinking that if anything serious developed between, he'd quit seeing her. Well, something serious DID develop, but he's still seeing her. He has us on a schedule. Some days are "hers" and some are "mine." He's taken me on some nice trips but he's also taken her on several since he met me. She knows about me, but she hasn't given him up.

I am not insisting on marriage, but I would like a man who's mine exclusively. Should I give him an ultimatum?

I really love him and don't want to lose him, but his running between me and this other woman is getting me down. What's wrong with him anyway?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: How far "down" you are willing to get before demanding exclusive rights is up to you. The quickest way to lose him is to give him an ultimatum, so don't go that route unless you're willing to surrender your 50 per cent of this illusive Romeo. I think he's marriage shy, and finds safety in numbers.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 4-77
AN ORDINANCE LEVYING ASSESSMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF NICHOLAS DRIVE BETWEEN LANCASTER PIKE (U. S. ROUTE 22) AND NORTHBRIDGE ROAD (STATE ROUTE 188) WITHIN THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE BY INSTALLING CURBS WITH GUTTERS AND SIDEWALKS THEREON.

WHEREAS, this Council did, on the 15th day of April, 1975, duly adopt Resolution No. 42-75 approving the report of the Assessment Equalization Board for said improvement; and WHEREAS, this Council did, on the 22nd day of April, 1975, duly adopt Ordinance No. 50-75 determining to proceed with said improvement and adopting the estimated assessments as equalized thereto; and

WHEREAS, the actual cost of said improvement has not been ascertained and has been placed on file in the office of the Clerk of this Council and has been reported to this Council; and WHEREAS, the estimated assessments for said improvement heretofore adopted by said Ordinance No. 50-75 have been adjusted so that said assessments, as adjusted, are in the same proportion to said estimated assessments as the actual cost of said improvement is to the estimated cost of said improvement; and WHEREAS, said adjusted assessments are now on file in the office of said Clerk, NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That the total assessment of the cost of the improvement of Nicholas Drive between Lancaster Pike (U. S. Route 22) and Northbridge Road (State Route 188) by installing curbs with gutters and sidewalks thereon in the City of Circleville, Ohio, as heretofore reported to this Council and now on file in the office of its Clerk and aggregating in the amount of $52,802.70 be and the same hereby is, adopted and confirmed.

SECTION 2. That there be and hereby are levied and assessed upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement, the amounts reported in said adjusted assessments, as aforesaid, which assessments are at the rate of $4.45 per lineal foot for curb and $1.06 per square foot for sidewalk. Said assessments do not exceed any statutory limitation.

SECTION 3. That it is hereby determined that the adjusted assessments heretofore referred to are in the same proportion to the estimated assessments as the actual cost of said improvement is to the estimated cost of said improvement upon which such estimated assessments were based.

SECTION 4. That the total assessment against each lot and parcel of land shall be payable in cash to the Treasurer of said City within thirty (30) days after passage of this ordinance, or at the option of the property owner assessed, in fifteen (15) annual installments, with interest at the same rate as is borne by the bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of such assessments.

All assessments and installments thereof which have not been paid at the expiration of said 30-day period shall be certified by the Clerk of this Council to the County Auditor to be placed by him on the tax duplicate and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes are collected, as provided by law.

SECTION 5. That the Clerk of this Council be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to cause notice of the passage of this ordinance to be published once in a newspaper of general circulation in said City as required by law.

SECTION 6. That the Clerk of this Council is authorized and directed to keep said adjusted assessments on file in his office for so long as any of them remain unpaid.

SECTION 7. That the Clerk of this Council be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to cause notice of the levy of the assessments herein provided for to be filed with the County Auditor within twenty (20) days after the passage of this ordinance.

SECTION 8. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

EVENING REFRESHER

Lace cookies, Irish coffee.

Irish Coffee

Cream: rich as an Irish brogue
Coffee: strong as a friendly hand
Sugar: sweet as the tongue of a rogue
Whiskey: smooth as the wit of the land

Heat a stemmed whiskey goblet. Pour in one shot of Irish whiskey — the only whiskey with the smooth taste and full body to make this beverage satisfactorily. Add two coffee-spoonsful of sugar. Fill goblet with strong coffee to within one inch of the brim. Stir to dissolve sugar. Top off to the brim with whipped cream, slightly aerated, so that it floats on coffee. N.B.

—Do not stir after adding cream — as the true flavor is obtained by drinking the hot coffee and Irish whiskey through the coolness of the cream. In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Kissinger Gets Post With NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Kissinger will become a special consultant for world affairs with the National Broadcasting Co. starting in July.

According to a five-year agreement with NBC, Kissinger will appear in one television special annually and on an undetermined number of interview programs.

"One criticism of television news in the past is that it is too superficial," said NBC President Herbert Schlosser in a telephone interview Thursday from Florida. "This will give us a chance to improve our coverage of foreign affairs."

Neither NBC nor the agent of the vacationing former secretary of state would discuss financial terms.

Vegetable Plate: Baked sweet potatoes, broiled tomatoes, succotash and spinach. The combination not only looks attractive but tastes great.

Physician Charged With Murder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Stuart Kutler of Brecksville has been charged with killing 8-year-old Arthur Noske, whose disappearance 11 days ago touched off an intense search in the Parmatown area.

Cuyahoga County sheriff's detectives arrested Dr. Kutler Friday night and charged him with aggravated murder after questioning Arthur's mother, Ann Noske, 3, for four hours. Deputies said Dr. Kutler, on advice from his lawyer, Robert Hanna, declined to make any statement.

Dr. Kutler was questioned earlier by police and denied any knowledge of Arthur's disappearance.

Detectives said Miss Noske told them Dr. Kutler had the child with his fist when they returned to the home at 8 p.m. Feb. 7 and found Arthur watching television when he was supposed to be in bed.

She was quoted as saying that Kutler carried the child to his room, and when she checked later she found Arthur unconscious and was unable to revive him.

The sheriff's detectives said Miss Noske told them Kutler wrapped the boy in a blanket and carried him away and that she did not know where the body was.

Originally, Miss Noske told police the child disappeared while she was shopping at Parmatown shopping center.

Parma police and volunteers searched the area and used a helicopter and a scent dog but failed to turn up any trace of the child.

Police said also they had found no one who had seen the child in the shopping center.

Miss Noske and Arthur had lived with her mother, Helen Noske, on West 91st Street in Cleveland until they moved to Dr. Kutler's home three weeks ago.

Prior to his arrest, Dr. Kutler told newsmen he was prepared to hire private investigators to help if police couldn't find the child.

Deputies said Miss Noske was held temporarily in protective custody.

Education Formula Change Not Likely

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With $300 million in new money, Ohio's equal yield school subsidy formula could be broadened to recognize cost-of-living and family income factors, according to the House-Senate Education Review Committee.

However, a proeducation Senate leader said Thursday he doubted that changes in the formula could be made this year and Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget as proposed would not provide sufficient funds.

Cost of living and low family income are not factors in the present subsidy plan. Both factors would tend to favor school districts in big cities.

Rhodes' budget, calling for a $185 million increase in basic aid, would take the equal yield formula to only 50 per cent of its goal level by the 1978-79 school year.

By contrast, the bottom line recommendation of the Education Review Committee asks for a $250 million boost in basic state aid, bringing the phase-in to 64.3 per cent.

The committee, a House-Senate study panel, drafted the equal yield formula to funnel state aid to school districts based on local property tax effort, rather than wealth.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Northfield, endorsed the ERC cost and income factors, but said he doubted that they could be written into the formula this year because pertinent data from tax returns would not be available in time. Under a new law, Ohioans must list their school district on state income tax returns.

The Senate leader, an Akron University education instructor, favors an option that would raise the 30-mill ceiling on equal yield to 35 mills. The formula, which seeks to offset disparities in property valuations, levels off state dollars at 30 mills.

Hearing Slated In Hostage Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday for a Michigan couple charged with kidnapping and holding hostage eight persons at a home for unwed mothers last weekend.

Bond was continued at $1 million each for Jessie Coulter, 42 and his ex-wife Rita Gibran, 37, both of Utica, Mich. at their arraignment today.

The couple will enter pleas on Tuesday.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Be Thankful Teen Takes The Pill

DEAR ABBY: I don't know who to turn to. I just found out that my 18-year-old daughter is on the Pill. I am nearly crazy with heartbreak, disappointment and shame. She has a steady boyfriend I thought was nice. I never dreamed this was going on.

Should I confront her and tell her I know? I'm so upset I can hardly sleep or eat. My daughter works steady and lives at home, and she's always been a clean and decent girl. Please help me.

NEARLY CRAZY IN PENNA.
DEAR NEARLY: What are your alternatives? Confront her and demand that she stop having sex? It won't work. Once a girl becomes sexually active, she's not likely to abstain from sex because her mother asks her to. Besides, she's of age. You could kick her out of your house, but what would that accomplish?

As long as she has chosen to be sexually active, isn't it better that she is taking precautions to prevent pregnancy that could lead to a premature marriage, and abortion or an unwanted child?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to Paul for only six months, but one of his habits is really driving me out of my mind.

When he sits down to eat (whether we are at home, dining out or are guests in someone's home), the first thing he does is to salt everything that requires seasoning—and I mean he salts it up but good! Abby, he doesn't even TRY it first; he just pours the salt on.

People look at him in disbelief. At the home of friends, I'm sure they think there's something wrong with their food. Shouldn't he take a little taste first? And then if he likes things saltier, he could add a bit more salt instead of doing it in these great broad gestures.

Or am I wrong to criticize him?

PAUL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If your husband likes salt, he should be a little more subtle in applying it, especially when he's a dinner guest. And he should take a token taste first, even though he knows he's going to add more salt.

Paul's craving for salt may be embarrassing for you, but it could have more serious implications. Tell him to mention this to his physician.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a man to be in love with two women at the same time?

I'm a divorcee, and this man I'm dating has never been married. When we met, he told me quite honestly that he had been seeing another woman, but that he wanted to date me anyway.

I agreed, thinking that if anything serious developed between, he'd quit seeing her. Well, something serious DID develop, but he's still seeing her. He has us on a schedule. Some days are "hers" and some are "mine." He's taken me on some nice trips but he's also taken her on several since he met me. She knows about me, but she hasn't given him up.

I am not insisting on marriage, but I would like a man who's mine exclusively. Should I give him an ultimatum?

I really love him and don't want to lose him, but his running between me and this other woman is getting me down. What's wrong with him anyway?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: How far "down" you are willing to get before demanding exclusive rights is up to you. The quickest way to lose him is to give him an ultimatum, so don't go that route unless you're willing to surrender your 50 per cent of this illusive Romeo. I think he's marriage shy, and finds safety in numbers.

Jaycee Wives Hold An International Dinner

Circleville Jaycee Wives held its February meeting recently in the Jaycee clubrooms.

Program for the evening was an International Dinner, with husbands of the members as invited guests. Also present was Mrs. Pat Overly and her husband.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Sue Ward was presented with her Parliamentary Pin.

Baptist Women Will Hold Meeting Thursday

The Baptist Women Home Study Group will hold its meeting 9:30 a.m., February 24, at the church.

Topic for the meeting will be "Sense of Spring."

A salad luncheon will be served and nursery service provided.

Members should bring a Spring Bonnet of their own creation.

PAMELA LYN HUTCHINSON

Nuptials Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hutchinson, 10855 Circleville-Lockbourne East Road, Ashville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Pamela Lyn, to Edwin Charles Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Long, 4078 Pineview Drive, Ashville.

Miss Hutchinson, is currently a senior at Teays Valley High School, and is employed at Jim's Super Duper as a cashier.

Mr. Long is a 1976 graduate of Eastland Vocational School, and is presently employed at Ohio State University as an electrician.

The wedding will be an event of July 15.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 477
AN ORDINANCE LEVYING ASSESSMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF NICHOLAS DRIVE BETWEEN LANCASTER PIKE (U. S. ROUTE 22) AND NORTHRIDGE ROAD (STATE ROUTE 188) WITHIN THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, BY INSTALLING CURBS WITH GUTTERS AND SIDEWALKS THEREON.

WHEREAS, this Council did, on the 15th day of April, 1975, duly adopt Resolution No. 477 approving the report of the Assessment Equalization Board for said improvement; and

WHEREAS, this Council did, on the 22nd day of April, 1975, duly adopt Ordinance No. 50-75 determining to proceed with said improvement and adopting the estimated assessments as equalized theretofore filed with respect to said improvement; and

WHEREAS, the actual cost of said improvement has now been ascertained and has been placed on file in the office of the Clerk of this Council and has been reported to this Council; and

WHEREAS, the estimated assessments for said improvement heretofore adopted by said Ordinance No. 50-75 have been adjusted so that said assessments, as adjusted, are in the same proportion to said estimated assessments as the actual cost of said improvement is to the estimated cost of said improvement; and

WHEREAS, said adjusted assessments are now on file in the office of said Clerk, NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That the adjusted assessment of the cost of the improvement of Nicholas Drive between Lancaster Pike (U. S. Route 22) and Northridge Road (State Route 188) by installing curbs with gutters and sidewalks thereon in the City of Circleville, Ohio, as heretofore reported to this Council and now on file in the office of its Clerk and aggregating in the amount of $82,802.70 be and the same hereby is, adopted and confirmed.

SECTION 2. That there be and hereby are levied and assessed upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement, the amounts reported in said adjusted assessment, as aforesaid, which assessments are at the rate of $4.45 per lineal foot for curb and $1.06 per square foot for sidewalk. Said assessments do not exceed any statutory limitation.

SECTION 3. That it is hereby determined that the adjusted assessments heretofore referred to are in the same proportion to the estimated assessments as the actual cost of said improvement bears to the estimated cost of said improvement upon which such estimated assessments were based.

SECTION 4. That the total assessment against each lot and parcel of land shall be payable in cash to the Treasurer of said City within thirty (30) days after passage of this ordinance, or, at the option of the property owner, assessed, in fifteen (15) annual installments, with interest at the same rate as is borne by the bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of such assessments. All assessments and installments thereof which have not been paid at the expiration of said period shall be certified by the Clerk of this Council to the County Auditor to be placed by him on the tax duplicate and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes are collected, as provided by law.

SECTION 5. That the Clerk of this Council be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to cause notice of the passage of this ordinance to be published once in a newspaper of general circulation in said City as required by law.

SECTION 6. That the Clerk of this Council is authorized and directed to keep said adjusted assessments on file in his office for so long as any of them remain unpaid.

SECTION 7. That the Clerk of this Council be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to cause notice of the levy of the assessments herein provided for to be filed with the County Auditor within twenty (20) days after the passage of this ordinance.

SECTION 8. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

EVENING REFRESHER

Lace cookies, Irish coffee.

Irish Coffee

Cream: rich as an Irish brogue
Coffee: strong as a friendly hand
Sugar: sweet as the tongue of a rogue

Whiskey: smooth as the wit of the land

Heat a stemmed whiskey goblet. Pour in one shot of Irish whiskey—the only whiskey with the smooth taste and full body to make this beverage satisfactorily. Add two coffee-spoonsfuls of sugar. Fill goblet with strong coffee to within one inch of the brim. Stir to dissolve sugar. Top off to the brim with whipped cream, slightly aerated, so that it floats on coffee. N.B.

—Do not stir after adding cream — as the true flavor is obtained by drinking the hot coffee and Irish whiskey through the coolness of the cream. Revelation Party Held By Guild 20

Berger Hospital Guild 20 held their "Secret Sister" revelation party at Wardell Party Home on Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. Hostesses were Mrs. Mary Hamilton and Mrs. Katherine Tadlock, who presented favors of covered clothes hangers to each one present.

Twenty-two members and two guests, Mrs. Frances Susa and Mrs. Elizabeth Altmeyer, enjoyed the evening.

Mrs. Olive Hettinger conducted the business session.

Plans for a Bake Sale and Rummage Sale were discussed.

Mrs. Hettinger appointed the following nominating committee: Mary Clark, Jean Thompson and Marie Gibson.

Secret Sisters were revealed, gifts exchanged, and new secret sister names for the coming year were drawn.

Hostesses for the March meeting will be Mrs. Eloise Dunkel, Mrs. Annabelle Mowery, Mrs. Ruth Croman, and Mrs. Garnet Ridgeway.

Members are requested to bring slips of plants suitable for hanging baskets to share with the other members.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Kissinger Gets Post With NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Kissinger will become a special consultant for world affairs with the National Broadcasting Co. starting in July.

According to a five-year agreement with NBC, Kissinger will appear in one television special annually and on an undetermined number of interview programs.

"One criticism of television news in the past is that it is too superficial," said NBC President Herbert Schlosser in a telephone interview Thursday from Florida. "This will give us a chance to improve our coverage of foreign affairs."

Neither NBC nor the agent of the vacationing former secretary of state would discuss financial terms.

Tillage Operations Could Be Reduced

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Farmers are feeling the crunch of the present fuel and energy situation. Production costs are continuing to rise and people concerned with agriculture are still looking for ways to reduce fuel requirements and production costs.

Reducing the present tillage operations could be a big savings to producers.

"If a farmer is now stalk chopping, plowing, disking the plowed ground twice, and then harrowing or smoothing the ground ahead of planting — there may be alternative operations that will take less fuel, less time, maybe less cost, and still result in similar or higher yields," says William Gill, farm machinery specialist at The Ohio State University.

For example, the conventional method of chopping the stalk, plowing, disking, disking and harrowing, planting, spaying, and cultivating require an average fuel consumption of 7.15 gallons per acre. If the plowing was replaced by chiseling and only one disking before planting, the fuel consumption could be reduced by two gallons per acre. By doing an excellent job of plowing and going over the plowed ground just once with a harrow or similar level tool, another half gallon of fuel could be saved. Disking could replace plowing on some ground. This could result in over a 3.5 gallon saving of fuel per acre, especially late in the season.

In most cases, the cost of production goes down as the number of operations go down. With the systems just mentioned, the cost of tillage could run from $42 for the conventional to $20 per acre for disking, planting, and cultivating.

Under the same assumptions for power, labor, and equipment cost, using no-till planting would cost $8.50 plus spray and about 1.2 gallons of fuel per acre, as compared to seven gallons of fuel per acre for the conventional tillage method mentioned earlier.

Cheaper tillage methods will have different effects upon yield and net income, depending upon soil drainage conditions and the closeness of tillage to the recommended planting date.

"On moderately well drained soils, the no-till methods has yielded as much or more, year after year, on our test plots," Gill says. "On poorly drained soils, we do not recommend no-till planting."

However, on all soils — as the planting date approaches — it is more profitable to use a minimum tillage method that will help the farmer get his corn planted on time than to use the conventional plowing method. In the Columbus area, there is about 1-3 bushel loss in yield per acre for each day of delay from May 5 to May 20. There is about 3 1-3 bushels loss per acre each day after May 20. These dates might shift south or north of Columbus, but the loss relationship would be similar.

Other factors could effect fuel consumption. Equipment that is in poor condition or improperly adjusted could cause higher power requirements and fuel consumption. Wheel slippage, due to too heavy a load or not enough weight on the drive wheel power unit, can increase the fuel consumption by as much as 30 per cent.

Solar Energy Provides Heat

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Solar energy is a popular subject. Diminishing fuel supplies, concern over environmental pollution, and the high cost of fuel have made Americans look toward solar energy as a possible source of fuel for heating.

Small solar heating units have been used for a long time to heat homes in Japan, Europe, India, Australia, Israel, and in southern parts of the United States. Solar energy was the primary way of heating water in southern Florida in the early 20's and 30's.

The most common type of solar heater was the thermosiphon heater, says Roger Miller, Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University.

This type of heater is made up of a solar heat collector that is connected by water pipes to a storage tank. The collector is located on the roof facing south and the tank is placed higher on the roof or in the attic. Pumping is not required for water circulation because the thermosiphon action moves the heated water in the collector up into the tank. The water you heat is the water you use.

This system is a direct water heating system. In colder climates, the collector would need to be drained when it is used during freezing weather, which can be done with electric controls. Another way to do this is to use the indirect system, which circulates an antifreeze water solution through the collector and a heat exchanger in the water tank.

"This does reduce the efficiency some. Solar energy heats the antifreeze and it in turn heats the water," Miller explains.

A small pump could be installed to circulate the antifreeze. This permits storing the water tank in the basement and the solar collector on the roof, or on the ground facing south. Therefore, the thermosiphon heater can be used in the colder climates and in any location.

This type of solar heating can be applied in heating a house. Heat collected from a solar flat plate collector, which would circulate a heated antifreeze water solution through a heat exchanger in a large water storage tank, could become a source of stored energy. This heat might also be pumped directly into the house during the day.

When there is more heat being generated than needed, the excess goes into storage to help carry households through the periods when there is no solar energy available. In addition to the solar collector and storage tank, pumps and controls of various types are needed to get the proper flow where it is wanted.

"About one-half to two-thirds of the home heating requirements can be supplied by solar energy," says Miller. "However, this doesn't necessarily mean it's economical to go this direction at the present time."

The biggest problem in adapting solar energy to houses is the way they are oriented in relation to the southern exposure. Placement of the solar collector may be difficult. But if the roof area is not large enough, the solar collectors may be mounted on the grounds.

Solar energy can be used to heat the air. A fan circulates air through the solar collector and this heated air is moved into the house and used when needed or placed in storage. A typical storage center is the use of a large area of crushed rock or stone heated by the air. This heated air can be circulated through a heat exchanger to heat a large storage tank of water.

You should use the system that is most acceptable and has a lower installation cost. But, remember that with any type of solar heating system, a conventional heating system is required to supplement the solar energy supply, Miller says.

Publication Reports 1976 Corn Performance Results

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

While Ohio farmers set a new record in 1976 by producing an average of 101 bushels per acre in their corn fields, corn hybrids tested in the Ohio Corn Performance Tests averaged 155 bushels per acre. The highest yield, 203.7 bushels per acre, was at the test location at Washington C.H.

Fifty-two seed corn producers submitted 149 hybrids for testing in the northwestern Ohio region, 160 hybrids were entered for testing in more than one region during 1976. Tests were conducted in two locations in each region: northwestern — Hoytville and Findlay; southwestern — South Charleston and Washington C.H.; and northeastern — Canfield and Wooster.

The tests were sponsored by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center and the Cooperative Extension Service of The Ohio State University. They are conducted to provide a source of objective information from various locations in Ohio on the relative performance of corn hybrids currently available to Ohio farmers. The information has been published in Agronomy Department Series 215, "Ohio Corn Performance Test, 1976," prepared by D. M. Jordan, supervisor, Ohio Corn Performance Test at OARDC.

Seed corn producers were eligible to submit for evaluation those hybrids for which seed is currently available for production by Ohio farmers. Each producer was permitted to enter five hybrids in each of three test regions. In addition to the regular hybrids, nine high-lysine type hybrids were evaluated at the Western Branch, OARDC.

Jordan reports that weather during planting season was favorable for timely planting of the test sites in 1976 although soil moisture was somewhat below normal during planting and early growth. Plant emergence was excellent. Rainfall was adequate in all regions except northwestern Ohio, where a dry summer reduced plant growth and earfill. Most of Ohio had a lower than normal amount of growing degree days. On the average, Ohio experienced about 11 per cent fewer growing degree days and cooler than normal temperatures continued into the harvest season and delayed harvest, adds Jordan. Moistures were higher than usual at harvest and lower test weights were noticeable.

Copies of the publication are available at the Pickaway County office of the Cooperative Extension Service.

In addition to Jordan, the Ohio Corn Performance Test Operating Committee includes Larry N. Shepherd, Extension Agronomist at OSU, chairman; William R. Findley, Research Agronomist, Agricultural Research Service, USDA; E. J. Dollinger, professor of agronomy, OARDC; Rodney W. Caldwell, Assistant Professor of Plant Pathology, OARDC; Robert Eby, Superintendent of Outlying Branches, OARDC; and Duane Debolt, Manager of Ohio Foundation Seeds, Inc.

Agriculturalists Are Concerned About Fuel

COLUMBUS — The Agricultural Energy Users group met in the office of the Ohio Department of Agriculture to review the problems of agricultural producers and processors associated with the energy crisis and the recent storm. Eighteen representatives of industry and farm organizations were present.

Presently the two primary problems of agriculture are supply and delivery of fuel and water. Since many food processing plants and greenhouse vegetable producers have converted from natural gas to fuel oil or propane, the additional demand for these fuels has caused distribution problems. Many fuel oil distributors are using an allocation system to stretch their supply to as many customers as possible. No one is receiving all he needs.

Several communities and many farms are short of water for both human needs and livestock. Many wells are dry, and there is insufficient equipment to deliver all the water that is needed.

Warmer weather will provide temporary relief from some of the energy related problems but will not solve them. The group is concerned about delivery of fuels for spring planting, and perhaps the fall harvest season when fuels will be needed to dry grain.

The group discussed the long range fuel prospects. It becomes clear very quickly that in order to prevent a continuing energy crisis, Ohio industry must utilize Ohio coal wherever possible. There are no alternative energy sources available in the short term or near future and it is unrealistic to believe that we can meet production requirements by conservation of energy alone. Energy experts tell us it will be ten or more years before new sources of energy are available in volume and Ohioans cannot wait that long. In the meantime, it would be possible to utilize Ohio coal in many agricultural industries if air quality standards were reviewed and made practical for rural environment.

The Agricultural Energy Users group will continue to meet periodically to assess energy developments.

By STEVE BARTELS
County Extension Agent,
4-H

The 1977 Horse Industry School for 4-H advisors, members and parents has been rescheduled for March 9, 1977 and March 16, 1977.

These sessions will replace the February 2 and February 9 programs which had to be cancelled due to weather. The March 9 session will be exactly the same as what was scheduled for February 2. That is Dr. Bob Kline of the O.S.U. animal science department will conduct a session on how to train and coach a 4-H horse judging team. Paul zumFelde, Area 4-H Agent, will present ideas on how to improve your 4-H saddle horse club. Dale Wilson, horse show judge and saddle horse advisor will coordinate a session on saddle and hunt seat showmanship and horsemanship.

The March 16 session will replace the February 9 program. Clark Bradley will demonstrate Western Riding and pole and barrel technique. Jim Hughes a horse advisor from Knox County will conduct a session on western horsemanship and showmanship, and Dale Wilson will discuss the proper construction of jump and how to design jump courses.

All sessions will be held at the Ohio State University Horse Barn Arena and classrooms near Don Scott Field in North Columbus. A $1.50 admission charge will be collected at the door with no advance registration required.

Book Tells Of Farmers' Contribution

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service (ERS) recently published a 102 page book that tells the story of the American farmer's contributions to U.S. history and to our economy today. The book, "The American Farmer," traces developments that have made U.S. agriculture the world's most productive.

ERS drew from the Department's historical photo file for many of the book's illustrations. Some pages show a historical photo of a farm task paired with a photo of how farmers perform the same chore today. For example, one pre-1900 photo shows a Midwestern farmer beating the grasshoppers away from his corn with a tree branch. The companion photo shows modern aerial spraying. Nebraska sodbusters from the last century, riverboats, many pieces of horse driven machinery, and yesterday's grocery store are pictured.

The book covers more than yesterday. The last chapter tells about "Farming in the Third Century ... and Beyond."

"The American Farmer" is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office,

1977 Fertilizer Supplies Adequate

"Fertilizer supplies are expected to remain adequate and prices could hold steady or lower through the rest of the fertilizer year ending June 30, 1977," a spokesman in USDA's Energy Coordinator's office recently reported.

As of mid-January fertilizer manufacturing and weather outlooks point to the favorable prices and for production levels to gain or continue steady.

Prices paid by farmers are included in a summary issued by USDA's Economic Research Service (ERS).

As of Oct. 15, 1976, farm prices averaged $182.00 per ton for anhydrous ammonia, $169.74 for urea, and $136.31 for ammonium nitrate. Triple superphosphate was $146.00 per ton, and muriate of potash was $94.20.

Crop Acreage Largest In 20 Years

Acreage of principal crops planted or grown in the U.S. during 1976 totaled 338 million acres, 1 per cent more than in 1975 and the largest acreage in two decades, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's annual crop production summary.

Crops harvested last year totaled 327 million acres, slightly more than in 1975. Producers harvested more acres of corn, cotton, spring wheat (excluding durum), dry edible beans and potatoes.

The USDA summary gives the following 1976 production totals and estimates of principal crops.

Corn for grain, estimated at 6,216 million bushels, 7 per cent above 1975. Sorghum for grain, 724 million bushels, 5 per cent below 1975.

Oats, estimated at 562 million bushels, 14 per cent below the previous year.

Barley, 377 million bushels, 2 per cent below 1975.

Wheat, 2,147 million bushels, a record high, slightly above 1975.

Rice, 117 million hundred weight (cwt), 9 per cent less than in 1975.

Rey, 16.7 million bushels, 7 per cent less than the previous year.

Soybeans, 1,265 million bushels, 18 per cent below 1975.

Peanuts, estimated at 3,735 pounds, 3 per cent below 1975.

Cotton, estimated at 10.6 million bales, 27 per cent above 1975.

Tobacco, estimated at 2,119 million cwt., 1 per cent above 1975.

On major crops farmers used more fertilizer and application rates were higher in 1976 than in 1975. Use of the major fertilizer, nitrogen, was 8.5 million tons in 1975 and 10.3 million tons in 1976.

Nitrogen was applied on 94 per cent of the harvested corn acreage in 1975 and 97 per cent last year. Rates averaged 105 pounds per acre of corn in 1975 and 127 pounds in 1976.

Nitrogen applied on other major crops in 1976 was: 71 per cent of the wheat crop, at an average of 51 pounds per acre, 76 per cent of the cotton crop, at 81 pounds per acre; and 20 per cent of the soybean crop, at 14 pounds per acre.

Phosphate applications 1976 included: 90 per cent of the corn crop, at 67 pounds per acre; 50 per cent of the wheat crop, at 37 pounds per acre; 53 per cent of the cotton crop, at 52 pounds per acre; and 28 per cent of the soybean crop, at 42 pounds per acre.

1976 potash applications on major crops were: 84 per cent of the corn crop, at 78 pounds per acre; 21 per cent of the wheat crop, at 37 pounds per acre; 37 per cent of the cotton crop at 56 pounds per acre; and 30 per cent of the soybean crop at 60 pounds per acre.

This week, I have a hodgepodge of small things to share with you.

Just received a great resource book for teachers and anyone working with elementary age children. It's a 63 page booklet titled, "A Guide to Teaching Poison Prevention in Kindergartens and Primary Grades." Beautifully done, excellent teaching outlines. Available free from U.S. Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

Someone asked about how to form a food cooperative. A reference (20 page) called, "Advising People About Cooperatives" is available free from Farmers Cooperative Service, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. It tells about all types of cooperatives, methods of organization, and where to get more information.

Who Pays for It? The advertising volume in the U.S. in 1975 was $28.23 billion, about $33.42 billion in '76, and estimated $36.5 billion this year.

The average cost of a new one-family house in 1963 sold for $22,200. In 1976 the average was $47,700. If you have an older teenager in the house, why not set him/her down and try to figure out the monthly payment on that!

For those who work with club programs, or teaching, a really great energy education resource kit is available from the Ohio Energy and Resource Development Agency, 30 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215. It has all types of information on saving energy, an energy quiz, all about home insulation directions, etc. Ask for the "Energy Kit."

Besides specific Extension Bulletins, many offices of our government have their own listing of publications; one of each is usually available free. One such office is the Office of Human Development, U.S. Dept. of H.E.W., Washington, D.C. 20201. Usually you receive publications more quickly from specific offices because of the massive load of orders sent to the Superintendent of Documents. The office of Human Development has a 48 page booklet listing all the

Vikes Blast Dublin, 68-51

Hotshot seniors Jeff Voss and Terry Trego combined for 35 points in leading Teays Valley to a 68-51 win over visiting Dublin Friday night.

The win, only the second in 14 games for the Vikes, put the skids on a nine game losing streak and upped their Metro League mark to 2-9.

In addition, it gives the Teays Valley some needed confidence as they prepare to invade Circleville's Mill St.

gym tonight in a game against the Tigers.

Voss scored 19 points for the Vikes, hitting six baskets and seven free throws, while Trego poured in 16 markers on seven baskets and a pair of charity tosses.

Center Rick Queen scored 10 points, and Charles Morrison and Duane Keller each hit for nine.

Tim Tosca and Ronnie Little also scored baskets, and John Woodruff hit a free throw.

Three Shamrocks were in double figures. Matt Price scored 12 points, Chris Mand hit for 11 including nine free throws, and Fred Seely scored 10 before fouling out midway through the final quarter.

Teays Valley netted 25 of 48 shots from the floor for a 52 per cent shooting average, while Dublin was shooting over the TV zone for 26 per cent on 16 baskets in 61 attempts.

Both teams had poor nights at the foul line - although they were both given plenty of chances as a total of 51 fouls were called in the game, 30 against the Shamrocks.

Teays Valley cashed in on 18 of 32 shots for 56 per cent, while Dublin hit 19 of 30 for 63 per cent.

The Vikes held a 37-28 edge in rebounding as Voss cleared nine and Morrison and Trego pulled down seven each. TV committed 18 turnovers to 15 for Dublin.

The first quarter was frustrating for both teams. Dublin held a slim 8-5 edge late in the period, but Trego got hot and swung the led to 11-8 with six straight markers.

Termeer scored his only basket of the night with a second left in the period to cut the TV lead to 11-10.

Voss opened the second period with six consecutive markers to swing the game in favor of the Vikes.

And it was a needed boost as Dublin hung on to trail 28-21 at the half. Eleven of their points in the first half came at the foul line.

Both teams traded baskets in the third period to keep the seven-point spread intact. The Vikes increased the margin to 10 midway through the quarter on a rebound shot by Voss and a layup and free throw by Keller.

Voss was responsible for TV's 48-35 margin at the end of the period as he hit a layup and three free throws.

The fourth quarter was anticlimactic as the Vikes wisely held the ball in a modified stall that netted easy layups and free throws. The slow-down also helped keep three key players in the contest. Voss, Trego, and Morrison were all playing with four fouls.

The Vikings also won the reserve game, topping Dublin 51-38.

John Sanders scored 25 points on 11 field goals and three free throws and Helser added 10 points.

CHS Reserves Clinch Share Of SCO Title

Coach Dennis Stewart's Circleville reserves clinched a tie for the South Central Ohio League championship Friday night when they downed Washington C.H., 44-43.

It appeared that the Tigers were going to have a fairly easy time of it as they led at the end of the first quarter 13-10, had a 23-17 edge at halftime and built it to a 35-23 lead at the third period buzzer.

But, the Blue Lions came roaring back in the fourth frame and the Tigers were in a real battle before gaining the one-point victory.

Peter Harrison led the Tigers with 22 points, Brian Sealock and Jeff Strawser each had six, Richard Elsea netted five, Carey Dean tallied three and Richard Pfeleger added two.

Tom Bath was tops for the Blue Lions with 14 points, Steve Pritchett added 10, Dennis Dunn had six, Jim McDonald hooped five while Rick Nichols and Roy Tyree each tallied four.

Circleville is now 9-1 in league play and will meet Teays Valley 6:30 p.m. tonight at the Mill St. gym.

SUMMARY
CIRCLEVILLE — Dean, 1-1-3; Elsea, 2-1-5; Harrison, 9-4-22; Pfeleger, 1-0-2; Sealock, 2-2-6; Strawser, 2-2-6. Totals, 17-10-44.

WASHINGTON C.H. — Nichols, 2-0-4; McDonald, 2-1-5; Bath, 5-4-14; Tyree, 2-0-4; Pritchett, 5-0-10; Dunn, 2-2-6. Totals, 18-7-43.

Tigers Defeated By Fast, Quick Blue Lions, 79-60

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

After a first quarter that saw the lead seesaw back and forth, the quickness and fast break of the Blue Lions took its toll as Washington C.H. downed the Circleville Tigers, 79-60, in a South Central Ohio League clash Friday night at Mill St. gym.

The defeat also carried a bit of irony as the last time the Tigers had suffered a home defeat, at either the high school or Mill St., was Jan. 11, 1974 — And that was a 60-59 setback at the hands of these same Blue Lions.

It was a hectic first period that saw the score tied six times before the Blue Lions grabbed a 16-14 lead at the buzzer.

The only time the Tigers had the lead in the contest was in the first canto when they held an 8-6 advantage and a 12-10 edge late in the period.

Washington C.H. began to set the past pace in the second frame and the pendulum started to swing in their direction. The quickness of the Blue Lions and the pressure applied hurt the Tigers and forced them into 10 turnovers in the period which Washington used to their advantage to build a 35-24 lead at halftime.

The Blue Lions opened the third quarter with seven straight unanswered points before the Tigers ripped a bucket at the five minute mark.

However, the Tigers began to battle back and cut the lead to nine points, 54-49, at the 0:42 mark. But the Blue Lions countered with six straight points in the last 42 seconds to lead 60-45 at the end of the canto.

The fourth quarter was a repeat of the third as the Blue Lions opened the frame with six unanswered points to lead 66-45 and this just about wrapped up the ball game.

Both coaches went to their bench in the middle of the last quarter and the closest the Tigers ever came was a 17 point deficit.

Frank Merrill and Toren Bensonhaver both had 16 points for the Tigers, Brent Wright added nine, Rusty Holbrook and Tom Taylor both netted six, Roy Huffer hit four, Dave Holbrook hooped two and Mike Brudzinski tallied one.

John Denen was top gun for Washington C.H. with 19 points, Dee Foster added 17, Mark Burke tallied 16, Tom Dean netted 12, Terry Wilson hooped seven, Sam McClendon hit four while Tony Tyree and Mike Turner each had two.

Circleville was 22 of 55 from the floor for 40 per cent and converted 16 of 22 from the charity stripe for 73 per cent.

Washington C.H. hit 32 of 66 from the hardwood for 48 per cent and had 15 of 22 from the foul line for 68 per cent.

The Tigers won the battle of the boards, 29-20, with Wright hauling down 10 missed shots.

Circleville had 26 turnovers while the Blue Lions misplayed the ball 15 times.

The Tigers are now 9-5 on the season 6-4 in the league, and will host Teays Valley tonight at the Mill St. gym.

Circleville had also rescheduled two of the three canceled games. They will be at Logan Elm Thursday night and will host Miami Trace Feb. 26 at the Mill St. gym.

SUMMARY

CIRCLEVILLE — R. Holbrook, 1-4-6; Merrill, 5-6-16; Taylor, 3-0-6; Wright, 3-3-9; Bensonhaver, 8-0-16; Brudzinski, 0-1-1; D. Holbrook, 1-0-2; Huffer, 1-2-4. Totals, 22-16-60.

WASHINGTON C.H. — Burke, 6-4-

16; Wilson, 1-5-7; Foster, 8-1-17; McClendon, 2-0-4; Tyree, 1-0-2; Denen, 9-1-19; Dean, 4-4-12; Turner, 1-0-2. Totals, 32-15-79.

Reserve Game: Circleville 44, Washington C.H. 43.

FLYING TIGER — Roy Huffer (10) floats towards the hoop in action against Washington C. H. last night. The Blue Lions clinched a tie for the SCOL title by thumping Circleville 79-60.

Braves Nipped By Lions, 69-66

CHARGE — Terry Wright (43) takes on two Liberty Union defenders for a basket during second quarter action Friday night at Spangler Memorial gym. The Braves played hard but couldn't squeeze enough points through the basket as they dropped the final score 69-66.

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Sports Writer

The Logan Elm Braves gave it all they had Friday night, but dropped a thrilling, nerve racking game to the visiting Liberty Union Lions by a three point margin, 69-66.

It was nip and tuck throughout the entire contest, with both teams often trading baskets for minutes at a time. The last three minutes of the first half was an indication of the way most of the game was played, as the two squads raced the length of the floor almost without stopping, and basket after basket swished through the nets. The Braves finally managed to come out on top at the end of the half by a 33-32 margin.

At the start of the last quarter, the Braves were facing a three point deficit, and at the outset it appeared as if the extremely fast pace of the game had spent itself. But soon the tempo had resumed. Mark Skinner took the ball with the Braves down by a point, drove the lane and double pumped, and sent the ball skittering through the hoop to put the hosts back out front with a 59-58 situation.

With 2:26 remaining in the game, and the score 62-61 in favor of the Lions, they decided to take a time out. It proved to be a wise decision, as Liberty Union came out and reeled off three unanswered points to pull away for good. Jeff Collins tried to keep the Braves within striking distance as he hit a foul shot and stole the ball for a layup. The Braves' Chuck Cave exited the game with 26 seconds left, and though Logan Elm refused to throw in the towel they couldn't muster the needed points, and as the final buzzer sounded Dave Hodge rammed a layup through the bucket for Liberty Union to make the final 69-66.

The Lions' Kevin Glasspoole was scoring leader for the night with a 21 point exhibition. For Logan Elm it was Cave showing the way with 18 points, followed by the speedy Collins with 14. Sophomore Dan Hill was the remaining double figure man with 10 markers. Skinner and Terry Wright stretched the nets for eight apiece, Doug Woods had four, and Jerry Scanlan and Mike Patrick cashed in with two apiece.

The Lions were guilty of 20 turnovers in the game, while Logan Elm misplayed 16 times.

Liberty Union was tops in the rebounding department with 29 while the Braves grabbed 21. Cave and Wright had five while Collins and Hill reported in with three apiece.

The hosts connected on 28 shots in 60 attempts for a 47 per cent rate of success, while the Lions enjoyed 59 per cent from the field, hitting on 29 shots in 49 tries. Cave and Collins had the 58 and 50 per cent, respectively.

At the charity stripe the Braves were successful 10 times in 13 tries making it 77 per cent. Liberty Union took 15 foul shots and connected on 11 for a 73 per cent rate.

In commenting on the game, Logan Elm coach Butch Kobel stated, "I really think our guys played a good ball game. There were some times in the second half when we couldn't get our offense going and they were able to spring for three or four big plays. We hustled and worked hard though."

Kobel also had praise for the victors. "Liberty Union has an excellent ball club. They have several outstanding shooters. When they play tomorrow night, that will make the tenth road trip they will have played in 14 days, and that kind of schedule is tough on anybody."

With the win, the Lions are in second place in the Mid State League. If Berne Union was successful Friday night, then they will be in the lead in the MSL race. Joining Liberty Union in second spot are Logan Elm and Pickerington, providing Pickerington won Friday night also. All those teams have three losses in the MSL loop thus far. The race for the conference crown is somewhat confused this season, as the champion will be decided on a per centage basis. This method was decided upon after the energy crisis forced schools in the conference to close for extended periods.

Tonight the Braves will be back in the Spangler Memorial gym for a matchup against the Aces from Amanda-Clearcreek. Tip off is slated for 7 p.m.

SUMMARY
LOGAN ELM — Collins, 6-2-4; Skinner, 3-2-8; Cave, 7-4-18; Wright, 4-0-8; Hill, 4-2-10; Scanlan, 1-0-2; Woods, 2-0-4; Patrick, 1-0-2. Totals, 28-10-66.

LA Open Lead Shared

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For the first time in two weeks Rik Massengale is out of the lead. Arnold Palmer and Gary Player are out of the tournament. And, for an undetermined period of time, Jerry Pate is out of golf.

"You could see he was in physical pain," said Roger Maltbie, who played with Pate, the current U.S. Open champion, in Friday's second round of the $200,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open. "You could see him flinch when he hit a shot."

Pate, the 1976 rookie of the year and winner of the Phoenix Open that kicked off the 1977 season, withdrew after nine holes with severe wrist pains. One physician who examined him advised surgery.

"I'm staying away from that," said the 23-year-old Pate. But he did advise tour officials to withdraw his name from any event until they are advised differently. He left immediately for his home in Pensacola, Fla.

While Pate was struggling over the tough, old, 7,029-yard Riviera Country Club course, Lanny Wadkins and Tom Purtzer moved into the lead at 135, seven under par—marking the first time in two weeks that Massengale had failed to lead the tour. Wadkins had a second-round 69 and Purtzer a wildy-erratic, four-under-par 67 that included seven birdies and three bogeys.

"It's almost a relief not to be leading," said Massengale, a runaway winner of last week's Bob Hope Desert Classic and the first round pacesetter here. He had a 73 that included a three-putt bogey on his second hole.

Former national amateur champion Craig Stadler, with a 68, and Maltbie, with a 69, shared third place two strokes back of the co-leaders at 137. Bob Gilder, who matched par 71, was tied with Massengale at 138.

Barons Tie Rockies, 3-3

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Their bodies were on the ice at the Richfield Coliseum, but the minds of the Cleveland Barons and Colorado Rockies appeared to be miles away.

There were some exciting moments in the game the Cleveland players originally threatened to boycott—including a rousing first-period fight between Al MacAdam and Colorado's Larry Johnston—but both coaches agreed the play was mostly sloppy after the teams had played a 3-3 tie in the only National Hockey League game Friday night.

The contest was played just hours after the Barons' players decided to play the game. Instead of walking out, they gave owner Mel Swig an ultimatum to either pay up back salaries owed them or sell the team by Tuesday or they will stop playing.

In World Hockey Association action, the Houston Aeros downed the San Diego Mariners 4-2, the Birmingham Bulls edged the New England Whalers 3-2, the Edmonton nipped the Winnipeg Jets 3-2 and the Calgary Cowboys defeated the Cincinnati Stingers 5-3.

Panthers Claw Mustangs; Clinch Share Of SVC Title

By TOM SPRING
Herald Staff Writer

The Southeastern Panthers could have been called "Comets" from the flash of their blue uniforms in a run-and-gun offense that defeated Westfall 65-37 Friday night on the Mustang floor.

The Panthers clinched at least a share of the Scioto Valley Conference crown. They can win it outright by defeating Paint Valley Saturday.

Southeastern's six-foot two-inch senior Jeff Schuler, had 20-20 vision as the forward scored 20 points and copped a like number of rebounds.

The Mustangs had the game in their hands in the first quarter as they jumped out to a 7-2 lead at 2:33. The Panthers took many shots that looked like sure bullseye but the ball seemed to find a lid on the basket each time, and when it did, Larry Bilek was often there to grab it for Westfall.

But suddenly a couple of mistakes gave the ball to the Panthers and the team tied it up and went ahead 13-9 at the buzzer.

Two free throws by Jeff Mowery and an outside shot by Eric Schleich brought the local lads within three, 15-12, at 7:07 in the second frame.

The Panther offense shifted into high gear and one quarter later, at 6:49 the score board read 38-14.

The "never-say-die" Mustangs refused to quit, however. They dug in

Fights Mar NBA Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Friday Night Fights have returned...in the National Basketball Association.

In a pair of bruising heavyweight bouts, Milwaukee's Sven Nater squared off against rookie Lonnie Shelton of the New York Knicks in the Bucks' come-from-behind 124-123 victory and Mel "Killer" Davis of the New York Nets decked Seattle's Dean Tolson in the SuperSonics' 93-88 triumph.

In more sedate NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks ended the Los Angeles Lakers' 21-game home winning streak with a 111-101 victory, the Phoenix Suns downed the Philadelphia 76ers 102-96, the Detroit Pistons topped the Washington Bullets 107-97, the Golden State Warriors held off the Indiana Pacers 116-111 and the Portland Trail Blazers edged the Chicago Bulls 90-87.

It was a rare reversal of NBA form, with five of the seven home teams—all except Milwaukee and Detroit—going down to defeat. However, the Bucks had to rally from a 20point halftime deficit to beat the Knicks behind 32 points by Bob Dandridge, 26 by Nater before he was ejected with 5½ minutes to play and 23 by Brian Winters.

Tom Biddle of North Carolina scored 62 points last season by kicking. He made 13 field goals and 23 extra points.

and slowed down Southeastern with a zone and started things off in the final canto with eight straight points, six from Bilek, to come within 13, but it was just not to be Westfall's night as they fell on the short end of the fray.

Southeastern Head Coach Larry Jordan credited his team's win to two factors.

The Panthers, who were upset by Adena last week, abandoned their usual straight man-to-man defense and used a mixture of defenses to thwart the Mustang attack, he said.

Also, Jordan said, "the Mustangs are better shooters than what they did tonight."

Westfall's mentor, Mike Eckle said, "It was just our inability to hit the open shot. Defensively, we weren't good but we held them 10 points under their scoring average."

"Southeastern's a very good basketball team," Eckle said. "They ought to do well in the tournament."

The Mustang coach also said nervousness may have been a factor in the Westfall game against the AP Ohio Class A fourth-ranked Panthers.

Three seniors hit double figures for Southeastern. In addition to Schuler's 20 points, Doug Estep hooped 16 and Coy Prater scored 12. Mark Carroll added nine, Sam Eldridge sank seven and Bill Barnhart made a free throw.

Larry Bilek was the high point man for the Mustangs with 10 markers. Eric Schleich and Bruce Starkey each tallied six points, Dale Ruoff and John Long swished in four and Jeff Mowery added five.

Southeastern shot 41 per cent from the field canning 27 of 65 while Westfall made 17 of 63 for 27 percentage points.

The Panthers hit on 13 of 23 attempts from the charity line. The Mustangs connected on three of 11 foul shots.

Southeastern brought down 50 rebounds while Westfall grabbed 37. Bilek nabbed 15 for the Mustangs.

The Westfall reserve team defeated the Panthers for the first time ever, 34-23, according to Coach Dennis Karshner.

The little Mustangs led 10-6 after one frame, was on the short end of the half 16-15 and the third frame 21-19, but came back in the last quarter to win.

Randy Hartzell hooped eight, Kevin Creamer added seven, Mark List, Dan Schleich, Greg Cooper and H. L. Gibson each tallied four and Randy Darst scored two for Westfall.

The varsity Mustangs are 5-8 on the year and will host Piketon Saturday.

The American farmer deserves a lot of credit.

Our 60th anniversary is an appropriate time to salute the greatest producer of food and fiber in the world — American farmers.

Sixty years ago, the Land Bank was established to help the farmer by providing dependable, long-term financing.

We've changed a lot over those years, but our purpose has remained the same...to provide farmers with the credit to produce that food and fiber.
